Morondava is a city located in Menabe Region, of which it is the capital. It is located in the delta of the Morondava River. The city is famous amongst other things for the spectacular Avenue of Baobabs nearby at 20. These giant baobab trees are an 800 year-old legacy of the dense tropical forests that once thrived here. Over the years, as the country's population grew, the forests were steadily cut down, leaving only the baobab trees, which the locals preserved for religious reasons.

DAY 3 : Morondava – Bekopaka

Breakfast
Drive to Bekopaka (200km/ 9hrs).
Dinner and overnight at Soleil des Tsingy Hotel

Bekopaka is a town and commune (Malagasy: kaominina) in western Madagascar. It belongs to the district of Antsalova, which is a part of Melaky Region. The population of the commune was estimated to be approximately 9,000 in 2001. The most important crop is rice, while other important products are bananas, maize and cassava.

The Tsingy of Bemaraha are the famous karstic rocks in form of pikes reaching sometimes more than 60 metres high and which appear in the UNESCO World Heritage List. The National Park of Bemaraha from where the Tsingy emerge encloses 85% of the endemic plants of Madagascar and many species of birds, lemurs, crocodiles and many other animals like the fosa (the famous endemic malagasian carnivore).

DAY 5 : Bekopaka

Breakfast

Visit to Small Tsingy and canoe excursion along the Manambolo River.

Dinner and overnight at Soleil des Tsingy Hotel

The small Tsingy are located in the village of Bekopaka. Walks in small Tsingy usually pass within 20 meters of the ground. Visitors discover narrow corridors passing without transition from a more humid forest to natural caves. The biosphere reigns supreme here. The small circuits stop at the sanctuary of the 53 species of birds listed in this restricted part of the Bemaraha park. The six species of lemurs present are among the rarest in Madagascar. Unusual reptiles such as the tiny Brookesia Perarmata chameleon are the other icons of the visit.

The descent on Manambolo river of Belo on the Tsiribihina is for those who want to experiment the thrill of canoeing, admire an uncivilized forest, cross the canyon and appreciate the view of a marvelous waterfall. All this while discovering the traditions and customs of the region.
